Subject: Cong. Gabbard Inquiry on Worker Protection Standards

Dave,
As we're gathering information required to answer the questions, it would be helpful to know the source of the statements. Thanks,
Sven

Subject: Request for Assistance

Good morning Sven,

The Congresswoman would like to verify if the following statements are factual.

1. The Worker Protection Standard for Agriculture Pesticides regulations established by the Environmental Protection Agency has not been updated or revised for more than 20 years.
2. The Federal government estimates that there are 10,000-20,000 acute pesticide poisonings annually among workers in the agriculture industry.
3. Cumulative long-term exposure (of pesticides) can increase the risk for farm workers, their families and their children for serious chronic health problems such as cancer, birth defects, neurological impairments, and Parkinson's disease.

Also, would you know how long it might take to receive a response, which can be emailed directly to me. Thank you for your assistance on this matter.
